Coffee Break or Prayer Break?

Many people look forward to that morning cup of coffee. In fact, some use a coffee break to give them a little “boost” in the afternoon. Why not spend that coffee break as also a time of prayer—a prayer break? Use that time to pray for the pastors who minister internationally or the students, faculties, and staffs of Nazarene Bible schools and seminaries. Intercede for those who are seeking an education to invest their lives in service to God or those already in ministry around the world. Consider this:

- A coffee break brings physical and mental rest, but a prayer break brings soul rest.
- A coffee break brings human fellowship, but a prayer break brings divine fellowship.
- A coffee break brings no special power, but a prayer break puts us in touch with the Powerhouse of Heaven.
- A coffee break helps the individual, but a prayer break helps others.
