

EASTER OFFERING

Help Spread Lilies of the Valley With the Easter Offering

Lilies of the valley are known to spread when transplanted from one place to another (see the related article in the November 2000 issue of Holiness Today).

To promote the Easter Offering, mount a large world map on a piece of plywood or place it on a bulletin board. Attach a bouquet of lilies of the valley (either live or artificial—other rapidly spreading flowers may be used as well) to your home country on the map. Using a stem of lilies to represent a designated amount (divide your church goal into equal amounts, such as $100). As the each designated amount is given for the Easter Offering, take a stem of lilies from the bouquet and place it on a country where the Church of the Nazarene has work (list is available on NMI web site).

Explain the display to your congregation, with clarification as to why lilies of the valley are used.
